

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, JULY 15, 1892.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF GILLIAM COUNTY, OREGON.

MEN AND WOMEN.

San Francisco Examiner.

The new census bulletin on population informs us that the people of the United States—62,622,250 in number—are divided between 32,067,880 males and 30,554,370 females. There are thus 1,513,510 forlorn bachelors who are left without mates and who are doomed to a life of agonizing celibacy; and every girl who grows up may congratulate herself that there is not only a whole man waiting to espouse her, but a fraction of a man over.

This is not the case all over the country. In New England and the middle states of the East, the women slightly predominate. Out of a total population of 17,401,543, there are 20,382 more women than men, so that these 20,000 spinsters must wither on their stalk, or fall back on the imported article, which is one of the few imports the McKinley tariff has spared. Perhaps they may supply the deficiency from the adjacent states. In the Northwest states, which are called in the census tables the north central division, there are 214,861 more men than women. Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas having been largely settled by immigrants from New England and Europe, who either had no wives or left them behind them. And in the old slave states the disproportion is still more marked, and not so easily explained. In those states there are 1,364,980 more men than women. This may possibly account in some degree for the slow growth of the negro population.

In our own division of the country, which contains a total population of 3,027,613, there are 537,459 more men than women. In California the excess of males is 191,986. And yet we hear girls say that marriage is going out of fashion!

This ought to be the happy hunting ground for the keen-eyed spinster. Every girl in California has a man and a half for her consumption, and the proportion holds good through the other states and territories on the Pacific Slope. Our girls are troubled by an embarrassment of riches. They have so many men to choose from that they are fastidious, and while they hesitate between the two bundles of hay the buxom New England girl and the ethereal maiden from New York and Pennsylvania slips in and restores the equilibrium of the sexes. They had better mend their ways or they may some day learn what an Adamless Eden really means.

Now that G. Cleveland and B. Harrison are the opposing candidates for president this year, it is the first case in 52 years and the third in the history of the government of a second race between the same competitors. Thomas Jefferson and John Adams were the opposing candidates in 1796 and 1800, and Martin Van Buren and William Henry Harrison in 1836 and 1840. In both cases the man beaten in the first race was successful in the second. Although urged by Tammany and other powerful political factors to express our opinion on the presidential outlook, the Globe has treated the invitation with scorn and contempt. We do not care to express our views as to how it will go this year.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

We have pitched our travelling gallery in Condon, and are now prepared to make the finest quality of photographs at $3.50 per dozen. We guarantee entire satisfaction in every respect, or we demand no pay. We cordially invite the people of Condon and vicinity to call and examine the fine collection of samples taken during our travels this year, it being the largest collection carried by any travelling artist on the face of the globe. Whether you want any pictures or not, we would be pleased to have you look at our samples anyway.

Respectfully,
MACKAY BROS.

The Marquis of Queensberry ring is twenty-four feet square and the London prize ring is sixteen feet square.

There will be 444 electoral votes this year. Last year congress passed a reapportionment bill, based on the census of 1890, allowing one member to 173,900 people.

A contest suit has been instituted by J. M. Huntington against J. B. Crossen for the clerk's office. Huntington alleges that only one ballot box was in sight at Hood River and that outsiders voted there; he also alleges that a large number of votes on which neither the name of Crossen nor Huntington were erased were illegally counted for Crossen in the four precincts of this city, at Antelope, Bake Oven, Cascade Locks, Hood River, Baldwin, Mosier, Deschutes, and in fact in all or nearly every precinct in the county. As the judges were two to one republican and were under oath, and as Mr. Huntington's complaint is also sworn to, either quite a number of gentlemen are frauds, or one is. It will take a judicial decision to settle it.—Wasco County Sun.

Lone Rock Rumbblings.

This is a good year for the immigrant, our streets being lined with them every day.

Com. Ralston has returned from his first courting trip, and says it's pretty rocky for a new beginner.

All the saw mills in this locality are running full blast, but the sale of lumber is rather slow this season.

Mr. Presley, the Lone Rock-Heppler stage man, is doing a good business, and seems to be prompt and energetic.

R. H. Robinson went to Gilliam's capital Monday and returned Tuesday with some freight which had been sent there by mistake.

John M. Brown, one of our most prominent sheepmen, is offered $2.75 per head for his yearling ewes. This shows what kind of stock brings in the $.

Mrs. Helen Bennett, who lives in the suburb of our "evergreen" city, has the finest floral and vegetable garden in Gilliam. (Thanks for the magnificent bouquet, Mrs. Bennett.)

Mr. Wm. Miller and wife took their departure last week for their former home in Lane county. During their residence here of 18 months, Mr. Miller has been engaged teaching school, at which he was very successful. He had the refusal of our school at $60 per month. They have won the entire esteem of our people, who very much regret their departure. Cowboy.
